About Anna University Faculty Awards:

In addition to the academics, the faculty members of Anna University are at the forefront of innovation, research, developing technologies, publish outstanding scholarly publications / patents. Anna University takes pride in honoring their excellence to foster a culture of continuous improvement and academic distinction. The Anna University Faculty awards contribute to nurture a positive academic environment, promote excellence, encourage research, innovations, start-ups and technology transfer activities. These awards serve to acknowledge the importance of research output and serve to inspire and motivate faculty members to continue making valuable contributions to their respective fields.

Need for the Faculty awards:

Anna University is keen to create an environment of origination in the research innovations, where faculty members are encouraged to push boundaries and explore new frontiers in their respective fields. The faculty member's commitment to creativity and ingenuity sets apart Anna University as a hub of progressive learning and discovery. Their multifaceted roles contribute not only to the advancement of knowledge in society but also bring out the technological breakthroughs. Hence, recognition through awards not only serve as a powerful motivator but also reinforces the idea that hard work, dedication, and excellence are valued by the institution which will create a sense of camaraderie among the faculty members to increase the interdisciplinary research activities.

About Centre for Sponsored Research and Consultancy, Anna University

Centre for Sponsored Research and Consultancy (CSRC), the erstwhile known as Centre for Technology Development and Transfer (CTDT), Anna University has been actively involved in facilitating the internal processes for effective implementation of Sponsored Research projects, Consultancy, Testing and Training programmes for the faculty members of Anna University. CSRC is also playing a vital role in liaising with stake holders including public funding agencies and private players investing into the research at Anna University. The centre plays the critical function of "playing one stop centre" for not only building relations with external stakeholders but also in facilitating smooth transactions among the internal shareholders for all activities relating to research, consultancy and training. CSRC has also been promoting the research activities by conducting seminars, conferences, workshops and exhibitions.

In addition, CSRC provides fund to the faculty members, especially to the ones who joined newly and the pre-final year students through Research Support Scheme of Young Faculty projects and Student Innovative Projects respectively. Last but not the least, CSRC honors the faculty members with awards for their excellence in research, consultancy, innovations, technologies transferred, patents, research publications etc.
